

Commercial Appeal – January 10, 2008

Letter to the Editor

Check proposed cable law's authors

To Tennessee lawmakers who are considering a vote for the upcoming cable television competition bill: Before you cast your vote, please read the bill very carefully, in its entirety.

Remember, the original bill was written by those whose only interest in our state is how easy they can make it for themselves to add our hard-earned money to their billions.

They're the same company whose line failures were responsible for the communication outage at Memphis International Airport. They're the same company whose system they're trying to push on us was totally down in many areas nationally, and heavily decimated service-wise in all the others they "serve."

They may even be trying to "rub our noses in it" for the government breaking up many years ago what they're putting back together now.

Again, legislators, read the bill thoroughly and carefully; you owe at least that much to those of us who sent you to Nashville.

Jack Parnell